Lingohub is a Linz-based startup that enables faster and better localization of web and mobile applications. Driven by new developments in the software industry, the translation market is buzzing. With our technology, we serve software companies as well as translation agencies from all around the world.

We are looking for a

Full-time Backend Software Developer

in our office in Linz, Austria.

Requirements

- Excellent knowledge (min. 3 years of experience) in Java
- Excellent understanding of OO Design and developing/maintaining large software systems
- Experience with Spring framework and test frameworks (JUnit)
- Good knowledge of SQL and databases, preferably in PostgreSQL
- Good understanding of version control, preferably Git
- Ideally, you also have experience in how to efficiently process and analyze large amounts of data